Healthy Me Mobile
Developing self-monitoring support for low-socioeconomic status adults

We conducted observations and interview with people in the program and are designing a mobile application to help participants set goals, connect with other program participants, and stay in touch with their coaches.

Healthy Me is a weight loss program for low-socioeconomic status adults that includes coaches, cooking and exercise classes, weekly weigh ins, etc.

Indiana University, Bloomington
Haley MacLeod, hemacleo@indiana.edu
Kay Connely, connelly@indiana.edu

Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis
Daniel Clark, daniclar@iupui.edu
Kimberly Hemmerlein, khemmerl@iupui.edu